

Video relay

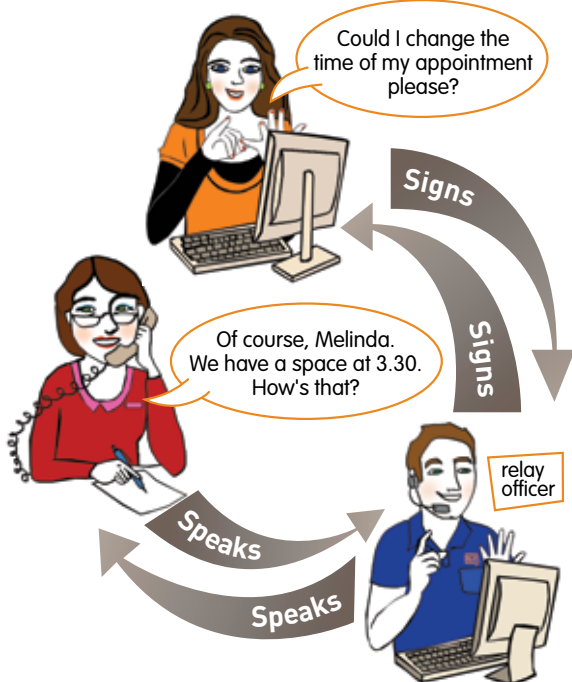

For Deaf people using their own language

If you are Deaf and use Auslan (Australian Sign Language), video relay is a great way to make a phone call to a hearing person.

The call will be relayed by a National Relay Service relay officer who is a skilled Auslan interpreter. You can ring anyone, anywhere. Your calls are confidential.

What do I need to make a call?

- an internet connection – through a computer, a tablet or a mobile phone
- a high-definition (HD) webcam
- a good broadband connection with both download and upload speeds of at least 1.5 Megabits per second.

You sign your side of the conversation and the relay officer will sign the responses of the other person back to you.

When can I make calls?

7am to 6pm (Eastern Standard Time) Monday to Friday except national public holidays.

Getting started

The service uses Skype – free software for video calling from the internet.

If you are not already a Skype user:

- download the latest version of Skype – do an internet search to find it
- sign up with Skype and create your own Skype contact name – it's free.

Once you have a Skype account add these to your contacts:

-  nrs.videorelay01
-  nrs.videorelay02
-  nrs.videorelay03
-  nrs.videorelay04
-  nrs.videorelay05
-  nrs.videorelay06
-  nrs.videorelay call-back.

Making a call

1 Open Skype. See if any of the nrs.videorelay contacts are online and available.

For example:

  nrs.videorelay02
Ready for your call when showing online

2 Click 'Video call'.

However, if a contact name looks like:

  nrs.videorelay02
Ready for your call when showing online

then that relay officer is busy with other calls.

If all the other NRS contact names are showing busy or offline, contact:

✔ nrs.videorelay call-back
If no video relay online – click here and a relay officer will call you when free. Keep your Skype status 'online' so the relay office can contact you.

3 When connected, give the relay officer the number you want to call. The relay officer will then ring the hearing person and relay the call.

4 The relay officer will talk with you in Auslan and with the other person in English.

What will it cost?

Calls are free. However you will be connecting to the internet, and how you are charged for your internet usage will depend on your phone or internet plan.

Making calls using the NRS app

Video relay calls can also be made using the NRS app. You still make the calls through Skype, but you can switch easily to other call options such as internet relay if video relay calls are not available at the time.

Can hearing people make calls to me?

Yes, anyone can ring you through the NRS using an ordinary phone or mobile.

All they need to do is:

- ring the NRS on 1300 149 715
- give your Skype contact name to the relay officer.

The cost for the other person will be the standard cost of a 1300 phone call.

More information

Go to www.relayservice.gov.au for:

- more about using video relay
- detailed FAQs
- tips on making calls
- more about the NRS app.

You can also contact the NRS Helpdesk (Monday to Friday, 8am to 6pm Eastern Standard Time) if you have any questions:

- TTY: 1800 555 630
- Voice: 1800 555 660
- email: helpdesk@relayservice.com.au
- SMS: 0416 001 350

The National Relay Service is an Australian Government initiative funded by a levy on eligible telecommunications carriers.

02/15

An Australian Government Initiative

A phone solution for people who are deaf or have a hearing or speech impairment
www.relayservice.gov.au